New construction system, where quality and speed are combined. An industrialised system, carried out in the workshop, with impeccable finishes and rapid execution. The final product is a totally finished home with different levels of finishes to be chosen by the client, where the fundamental premise is energy efficiency, quality in design and comfort of the home. A PROJECT The in-house architect carries out and supervises the project in which the client demands. Studio where architecture and interior design are combined. A REALITY Together with the company, which specialises in industrialised housing construction, the client will get his home in 6 months. ADVANTAGES HIGH QUALITY CONSTRUCTION AND FINISHES When the construction is carried out in the workshop, the quality is much higher, as the pieces are made by means of machinery with tailor-made work and not by personnel on site. Once the project has been drawn up with BIM systems, the information goes t...
